In the book Slug Needs a Hug , slug gets dressed up as all the other animals. Now is your chance to get all dressed up too! Can you fasten your own buttons, shoes and zips?	Make sure your buttons are lined up. Do your shoes last!
Slug missed hugging his mum. Write a sentence about something you have missed in school.	Remember to use your phoneme fingers. You can do more than one – spread the happiness!
We can't hug each other while we are socially distancing. Think of a nice thing that you could do for your family or friends instead.	It could be helping out, like tidying up, or it could be making a card.
In school we are making a slug Emoji Bracelet. It's a slug bracelet with happy and sad faces to show how slug is feeling. You could use emojis to show happiness, sadness, worry, nervousness, excitement or being cross. Or other feelings that you choose!	Measure it out on your wrist before you start decorating it. You can either print or draw the emojis.
Set up a shop using toys or items from around the house. Use coins to buy the things.	Can you add two items to find the total?
